

Dear Investors,

February 25, 2015

In Next three days, Our coming four year structure will be decided as the new full majority government is going to present his first full time period budget for FY 2015-16. On 26th, railway budget will announce and on 27th, economy survey will come and as decided on 28th, the union budget will comes in public.

In last 6 months statements which release by government of India, I predict his first priority is boost up the reform and control the retail inflation and creates opportunity for common men to increase earnings ratio so they can reduce the subsidy burden. It is not possible for Mr. Finance minister to make smile on everyone face but point is what he going to deliver so in future it will come true.

A powerful government first priority is always to make strong their fundamentals for long term economy growth. If I considered it as a benchmark of upcoming budget 2015-16, than its easily predictable that outcome will be hard and strict for industries and common man as current micro economy data not allowing leverage to Mr. Finance mister for any relaxation. One more thing which supports my philosophy is its ideal time for policy makers to take bold steps in favor of economy as in next 12 months; there is no election schedule as off now.

I believe that a short term down fall can be observed but it will be ideal for smart investors to increase their investment and make quick money.

Warm Regards,
